

Miss McKane playing against Mrs. Beamish in the final of the women's open singles at the tennis tournament at Woomahampton, England. Kadel & Herbert.

New troubles on the Ulster border. The hurriedly thrown up barricade just outside the police station at Newtownbutler, where all motor cars coming from the Free State are held up by the Ulster guards. Wide World.

A May wedding in Cairo. A scene which proves that old Egypt still lives in the new kingdom. The party is guarded by the swordbearers. Gilliams.

Above: Clifford P. Hunt, vice-president Chemical National Bank, New York, who sailed yesterday for Europe to study financial conditions for his bank.

Above: The marriage of Miss Sally Clarke Beecher, niece of Mr. Hugh Campbell Wallace, former U. S. Ambassador to France, to Count Jean Bertrand de Luppe at the Madeleine in Paris. The bride arriving with her father. International.

Above: An American Admiral in Spain. U. S. Admiral Niblack (at the left) arriving for his visit to the grounds of the coming Spanish-American Exposition. The Naval Comandante of Seville is at the Admiral's left. An interesting scene as a reminder of 1898. Wide World.

First photograph of the staff of the German Embassy at Washington since the arrival of Dr. Otto L. Wiedtfeld, the new Ambassador. Left to right: Baron Plessen, third secretary; Mr. K. Lang, Charge d'Affaires; Dr. Wiedtfeld; Baron von Thernmann, counselor, and H. Riesser, second secretary. Harris & Ewing.

The honor student at the National Social Service College at Washington, D. C.—a Filipino girl—Senorita Inez Villa, who is to return to the Philippines to teach infant hygiene. Gilliams.

Committee of the New York Bond Club, with S. B. Steele, president of the club, pitching out the ball at the opening of the baseball match between the club's rival teams at the annual outing at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club. Left to right: R. H. George, H. A. Herrich, H. F. Whitney, Mr. Steele, E. H. Robinson, H. Driggs and E. T. Tomlinson, Jr. New York Herald Photo.

Julius H. Barnes of Duluth, Minn., president of the Chamber of Commerce United States. Underwood & Underwood.